As time goes on, general facts are established and overviews of the event appear in print and online reference materials such as encyclopedias, textbooks, and dictionaries.

Reference materials include a timeline of major dates and years; key people involved in the event; and definitions and explanations of major topics.